New to my collection is a beautiful specimen that screams both elegance and sophistication, while intriguing spectators with its ingenuity. It is in and of itself a finely tuned machine. This piece is a precision steel milled gentleman's ring with real, smooth movable parts attached to a system of gears. Its array of complex motions resemble a sleek, fine machine while at the same time remaining a wide, sharply masculine accessory with its bold face and strong movements. Although it may appear delicate, the screws, cogs, and gears on this piece are all dense, polished stainless steel and are fitted together tightly, yet snugly and will not come loose. This makes an incredibly unique gift to yourself or a loved one, and with the holiday season approaching quickly, you'll want one of these before someone else grabs it!

I invite you to watch a video of the ring's mechanics at the following link:

Spinning Gear Ring in Stainless Steel by Kinect - $100 (closter nj)

I'm selling an amazing ring (bought online from Kinect) that is an actual moving ring in real precision milled stainless steel. These go for $165 as seen on their site but I need to sell mine fast so first to offer $100 per it or if you like it to the best offer. It's in size 10 (the most common size) and pretty much unused. It's an awesome ring for anyone from designers to the impulsive to just anyone who would appreciate a clever little corruption like this.
